Loops pack map & screenshots

Hereafter, you will find screenshots of the pack structure and how loops are classified.

How the loop pack is structured?

We have tried to make it as easy as possible so you can get what you want instinctively. Basically, the pack is divided into 5 main directories.

There are no subdirectories so you don't waste time re-clicking everytime you search for a loop. Actually, samples are specifically named so you can directly find necessary information.

Each directory also has an explicit description in its title: Drum loops / Drum loops (No kicks) / Music loops / FX & voice loops / Bonus loops.

Once you have opened a directory, loops are classified by tempo (ranging from the slowest to the fastest BPM) followed by an explicit family loop name.

E.g. 128BPM_RoughDisco.wav

Either there is a unique loop or a serie of loops with variations.

E.g.

When available, you will find the 'No Kicks' variations in the (No Kicks) directory with a specific mark at the end of the file name "_NK"

E.g.

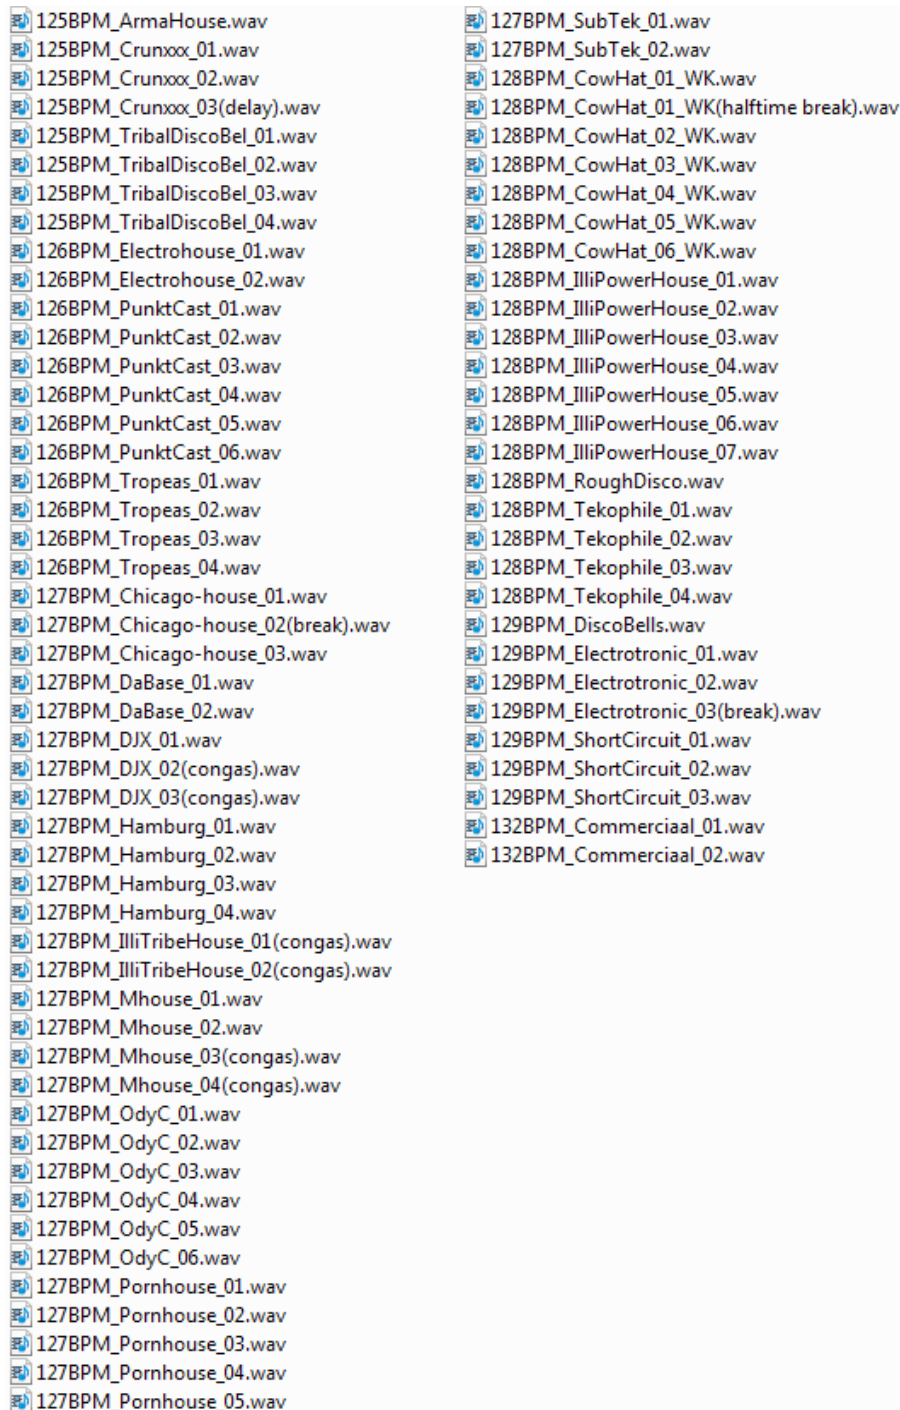

You will also find for certain loops 'tags' in the title.

E.g. (congas), (delay), (half-time break).

How does it really look like inside?

Nothing compares to a screenshot of each directory!
