“सत्यमेव जयते” -The Indian Rupee

"Satyameva Jayate" is Sanskrit for Truth Alone Triumphs.

“In God We Trust.”

-The American Dollar

If you've ever walked feeling helpless and hopeless just because you had no money in your pocket,

If you ever had to skip a meal because you didn't have enough money to pay for it,

If you know the pain of not being able to gift something to someone because it was too expensive,

If you were told that you are not good enough because you were broke and couldn't provide for others,

If you ever had to do something that you regret to get money,

If you've ever gone without something and killed your desires just because you didn't have enough money,

It goes without saying that you must know that I too have been through the same and I dedicate this book to you.

For my father,

I would not even be half the man I am today if it wasn't for you.

I have never said it to you, but I love you, papa.

In the loving memory of my grandmother,

You have been an angel for all of us and I hope I have made you proud.

I know it's a bit late to say I love you, we all did, nani.

My old story - Prologue

I never had enough money until the time I had enough of not having enough! I had been broke as far as I can think back in my life. I remember walking around with only a few bucks in my pocket. My friends used to invite me to go to all these fancy places to eat and drink with them, but I always used to politely decline.

Instead, I used to sit at home, thinking and crying over my fate, the fate that this cruel life had dealt me with. I used to cry myself to sleep. When I used to wake up, the nightmare started all over again. There never just was enough money for me or for me to buy the things I really wanted. I saw my friends and other people, 'enjoy' their life.

Meanwhile, I was just struggling. Not having enough money made me feel as if I was not man enough. It showed in the way I talked and walked. It had definitely taken a toll on my emotional health and I always felt as if I was not good enough. After my first relationship went sour, I completely lost myself. Everything went downhill from there. I used to cry all day and night. I was completely faithless.

There was nothing left for me to do in life other than for me to die. For the first time in my life, I felt that death would be easier for me than to deal with my life.

Then I don't know what happened but I just let go, and I felt a sense of peace sweeping me along the shores of bliss and freedom. Miracles after miracles exploded out of nowhere and I realized that nothing in life is as it seems.

Have you ever felt that there was something more to life than you were able to see? Well, there is. I found it the hard way and through as well as this throughout this book, I will give you the secrets behind the energy of money. This book is about bringing you from nowhere to now here!

The Gold Book Oath

I hereby promise to take 100% responsibility of my past, present and future.

I now realize that I am the creator of my life and I will cease to blame anyone or anything else if things don't work out the way I want them to.

I know that every thought that I think right now is affecting my future.

I will forgive the people I am angry with whether they deserve it or not.

I only have control over my present and when I begin to love myself right now, everything else will fall into its rightful place.

I now thank and trust God with my life.

WTF Moments

The times when I didn't understand anything about luck, fate or money. Needless to say, I was broke and unhappy with the way I was living my life, so I made it my mission to discover why the evasive Goddess of money only favored a few. My findings were indeed shocking and made no sense at all, but in a very perverted way, they did.

It started for me with a packet of chips

“Don’t take that, it’s too big!” I heard my mother saying as I reached out to grab the biggest packet of my favorite potato chips. She had taken me along with her for grocery shopping and I was only 7 years old at that time. I looked up at my mother who was much taller than me, with hope that I could convince her to fulfill my wish.

“Here, take this one,” she said handing me the cheapest and smallest packet of potato chips she could find. She clenched my small hand and pulled me away before I could see any more things she would have to buy.

Completely disheartened as my heart was still set on the one I had chosen earlier to pick for myself, I started walking with her with a heavy heart.

“Mummy, can I ask you something?”

“Sure son.”

“Are we poor?”

She smiled her beautiful angelic smile and told me, “No we are not.”

She lied. We were poor or at least, we acted like we were. I felt cheated and very angry at that time. Almost as if I was inferior to the world and wasn’t deserving of what I truly wanted.

This incident happened 18 years ago. It was my earliest memory and lesson of realizing how important money is to live a happy life.

I developed an obsession since then to completely sort out the issue of money in my life. I blatantly wanted more than I could spend and I was willing to do anything to find the secret behind money.

I did.

Golden Rule # 1: Money is very important to live a truly satisfying life.

“Whoever said money can’t buy happiness didn’t know where to shop.” –Anon

More often than not and for more people than not, money is the sole reason that stops them from getting what they truly desire.

Has it ever happened to you that you really wanted something and were stopped dead in your tracks because it was too expensive for you? Have you ever had a dream that remained unfulfilled for a very long time because you didn’t have enough money? Or worse, do you still have a dream that remains unfulfilled because you cannot afford it?

If your answer is yes, my answer is, you can’t afford to live life like that. This book is going to be a giant leap for you towards having more wealth in your life. Don’t read it, study it over and over again as if your financial future depended on it, it does.

Welcome to 96% of the population who only have 4% of all the money in the world.

The truth is, money doesn't stop you. What actually stops you is something that is completely hidden from everyone's eyes.

You might not believe me right now. In fact, there was a time in my life when if someone had told me that money is not what stopped me from living my dreams, I would've punched them really hard in the face!

The real question is, whether or not you want to sort your finances and the subject of money for the rest of your life.

And most importantly, do you have what it takes to be the 4% of the population that controls the 96% of the money that exists? Do you want to have to have it in you to understand the energy of money? If yes, then read on.

Study this

In a recent study conducted to find out what would the economic repercussions be if all the money in the world was redistributed equally amongst the people of this world, the results of the research were astonishing.

The study concluded that in a very short period of time, 96% of the money would once again find a way to be redistributed amongst the 4% like it earlier was!

How could this be? The most mind boggling fact about this kind of skewed statistic gave me a clue as to what was really going on.

Golden Rule # 2: Money goes where it is called and welcomed.

The unfound secret of the rich

How were certain individuals able to attract money like a magnet while others who 'did' the same things could not?

There must be something that the rich do. There has to be some sort of secret that they know. Maybe a ritual that they do! Maybe it was something that they wore that gave them special powers? Or maybe a God or an idol that they worshipped that bestowed them with material wealth? Or maybe, it was something that they eat or drink? Maybe a secret ingredient or a magic potion!

When I was younger, I had a chance to live for a considerable amount of time with a particular family that was rich. I was ecstatic, mostly because I would have the opportunity to closely observe them and finally find out the 'secret' behind their riches.

I ate with them. They ate mostly healthy food. They didn't drink, and those few family members who did, drank mostly scotch, the really expensive one which came in a fancy bottle. They talked like normal people did. They did not visit the temple. They did not worship any idol but did however believe in God. They wore normal clothes, nothing too extravagant.

Before I knew it, my time to stay with them had come to an abrupt end. I was furious, mostly because I could not find anything out of the ordinary that would have given their secret away.

I did however notice one thing.

I noticed that the rich family I stayed with for a short while was happy most of the time. They all smiled more than often. In fact, they lived just like normal people do, but they were much nicer to each other and others. They were content.

But I was not, I wanted my damn answer!

Golden Rule # 3: Money is a by-product and the result of feeling certain emotions.

Bad Karma

The next thought to enter my mind was weird but a logical one. Maybe being rich is karmic. Maybe God chooses who should be rich and who shouldn't be. After all, I couldn't find anything out of the ordinary that they did to get all the money they had. They all, well, just seemed to be living and actually enjoying it!

I researched and read books written by the super rich. How they were all poor once and had amassed riches for themselves in seemingly magical ways.

Something was still being hidden and I was not fully convinced of this whole karmic thingy. I felt in my heart that there was something, a lot more that was going on other than what I could see or understand.

At that time, I didn't know that what I was looking for was invisible and that which is not seen is mostly not understood.

I gave up my search because frankly, I saw just the dead end.

I was dead wrong.

Back to square one

When I grew older, I realized that the fire of curiosity that I had long flamed since my childhood burned within me even fiercely than ever before.

I once again, resumed my research.

Money, everybody wants it, everyone needs it. And yet, like a butterfly, it goes away from those who chase after it. Like a girl, it is attracted most to the people who don't pursue it.

Very early on in my life, I realized the power money has over our lives. I grew up in a family which has seen since the time of my birth, black, white and gray shades of finances.

I began looking for patterns. I figured that if I could pin point what type of people had money, I would be a step closer to discovering the secret behind money.

In my observation, fat people were rich. Thin people were rich. Good looking people were rich. Ugly people were rich. Old, young, bald, long haired, short, tall, they all were so bloody rich!

In a short period of time, I found out that there were fat, thin, good looking, ugly, old, young, bald, long haired, short and tall people as well who were poor.

I was so frustrated because there was no single physical attribute that I could find that would separate the poor from the rich.

Once again, I had failed.

Chinese Magic

Then I realized, maybe it was the economy or the market place. Yeah, that must be it! That's why some businesses do well and some don't. I had almost concluded that the secret behind money is to be in the right kind of business. But it wasn't until the day I visited a Chinese restaurant, that I finally got a clue.

There were two Chinese restaurants next to each other. One of them did business well over millions in a year and the other one was on the brink of being closed down.

Instantly, I was curious as to what was going on. They both were in the same business and in the same location but only one of them was doing well for itself. I decided to go visit that place and see for myself what the fuss was all about.

It was a bit stuffy inside and the staff though friendly, seemed to be mentally projecting, "Just eat your food and get out coz someone else is waiting for the seat your ass is on!" The food was nice as well, but I could still not see any particular reason that lead to the popularity of this restaurant reaching to such epic proportions. It was alright, nothing extraordinary.

A few months after my first visit, I had to meet a friend of mine for lunch that incidentally stayed very close to this Chinese restaurant.

We decided to have our lunch there but since there was a long waiting list, we both decided to eat at the restaurant that wasn't doing well. What happened next, completely fried my brain!

I found out that this restaurant's staff, food, seating, ambiance and almost everything else was far better than the famous Chinese restaurant I had previously visited. Also, the prices were a lot less than the hyped one.

How come this excellent restaurant was being driven out of business by a mediocre one?

I had no answer.

The talented struggling actor

I recently had the good fortune to meet a person who described himself as a 'struggling' actor. When I saw him acting on stage, I was awe inspired because he single handedly had more talent than all the actors in the film industry combined!

I instantly wanted to meet him and congratulate him personally after the play got over.

He was very happy to be congratulated for his gifts and talent. As our conversation became more candid, he told me that he was broke and had to fight with the director just to get the acting work I had just seen.

This came as a shock to me. A person so talented fighting with the director to get work, while those who are not even close to his talent, being offered millions and chased after by directors to work for them?

What was going on?

Golden Rule # 4: Money doesn't flow in easily where struggle exists.

The broke supermodel

The next story is of a girl who is one of the most beautiful girls I had ever seen. Trust me, I've seen a LOT of girls and this one was absolutely gorgeous. I suspected that she was a supermodel and struck up a conversation with her.

She told me that she was a model. That came as no surprise to me.

"You must have a lot of modeling assignments coming your way, which one is the latest shoot you've done?" I asked her.

"Are you kidding me, I haven't been offered work for the last three months! In fact, I don't even have rent to pay for the next month that's about to start!" she retorted in helpless frustration.

"But, how is that possible, have you seen a mirror lately? You are gorgeous!" I replied in shock. "I guess I am alright looking. I had a lot of high hopes before for becoming a successful model but nothing worked out for me as I expected."

Life seemed so unfair when I saw the sadness in her beautiful eyes that were filled with her broken dreams.

Golden Rule # 5: Looks rarely affect your ability to manifest money.

You've got to be kidding me!

At a party, I was introduced to a plain looking person. In fact, he had nothing extraordinary about him. To be honest, he was downright ugly and repulsive! Also, he seemed uneducated and was unable to speak English properly. He had an appalling personality and I decided to ask my friend why he had even invited him to the party.

"Who is that guy and why have you invited him?"

"He? Don't you know him? He is the son of _____ and he recently started his company that made him a self made millionaire."

This guy! A self made millionaire?

The Superman salesman

I was introduced to one of the top salesman of a very successful firm. There were other salesmen too, who did cold calling and worked very hard to achieve their monthly targets. While they worked hard and followed up on prospective clients, this guy sat alone in his office, barely ever made a few calls and closed his deals successfully.

I was completely mesmerized by him because it all seemed like magic to me. As if, he was an actor in a film and was playing out a part that was pre-planned. It was almost like watching Superman in action!

The others however, worked long hours and it seemed that the harder they tried, the further their prospective clients fled away!

All this didn't seem fair, what kind of a perverted Universe was I living in anyway?

Golden Rule # 6: This is a Universe of justice.

The rich asshole

He's got more than his fair share of money, women and good luck. His moral values are below zero and in the negative, and yet, no matter how much wrong he does with other poor 'victims,' he seems to be going only one way in life, up.

I am sure that almost every one of us knows a guy like this, 'nuff said!

But how the Universe could tolerate and support these kinds of people escaped my understanding.

Following your passion?

There is a popular mantra that some of the most successful people of our times tell you, i.e to follow your passion. Do what makes you happy and the rest will take care of itself.

There is only one problem; happiness doesn't pay the bills! There are so many people I know who are doing what they love to do and are still not making enough money as they would like to. There was something missing.

I also found out that one of the most famous painters in the world, Vincent van Gogh sold only one painting throughout his entire life!

His paintings were mostly valued only after his death.

To be honest, there are a lot of people who are doing what they love but are still living in financial straightjackets.

Old man, new car!

I am pretty sure you all have seen the old guy in his flashy sports car and cried out to God, “Why him and why not me? I don’t think he deserves that!” To tell you the truth, every time I saw an old guy driving his sports car, I felt extremely cheated, let down and furiously jealous. Life was just not making any sense to me and I was light years away from discovering the secret behind money.

More WTF Moments

I have a multimillionaire friend who is miserable.

A ‘highly spiritual guru’ who worries about losing business and is afraid that other people might steal her clients!

I know a salesgirl who hates her job but just sold a million dollar worth of products!

I know a pessimistic person, who doesn’t agree with my Black Books and doesn’t even believe in the existence of God or an intelligent, divine Universe. He is wildly successful.

So we know people who are multimillionaires but are unhappy. We know people who are happy but poor. We know very talented people who are following their ‘life’s calling,’ but they don’t seem to be closing any sales call.

We know people, who don’t deserve all the money they have in their bank account but they still have it!

We know ‘negative’ people who don’t believe in God, ethics or the goodness of life and they still thrive.

WTF IS GOING ON IN THIS WORLD!

I found out.

This is a message from God. Its purpose is to show you how to manifest your dreams that have been eluding you for so long. The change you've been wanting in your life is here. This message is that change. What you are reading right now is very powerful. If you don't feel the power these words have at the present moment, please turn these pages over. This just means that you are not ready for the message which is in here for you. When the time is right, you will find the Black Book again. Actually, the first Black Book will find you.

Black Book II

Released 2009

Wealth is impartial to us just like the air we breathe. Everything that you want has an energy signature, a kind of a code. Miracles are available to everyone and there is a certain code of conduct which they follow. But the codes to create them have almost always been left unspoken, until now. You can keep the Black Book II with you only if you resonate with its power. Only if you are finally prepared to live your fantasies. Otherwise, it will escape and leave you for someone else.

Released 2011

To be truthful, this was the end of a dark beginning. I had banished my past in the limbo of my mind and it was supposed to die with me.

But, the deepest darkest truth always finds a way to reveal itself.

A violent struggle of emotions within and a hopeless war with reality to follow an impossible intuition, I secretly wish that this was just a fictional fable, but this is the shocking story of my life.

This is the dark beginning of an end because the truth won.
